

Weber County Storm Water Coalition

Course Instructor Resume

Course Instructor: Blane W. Frandsen PE

- Graduate from Brigham Young University in 1977 in Civil Engineering
- Registered Civil Engineer since 1980, currently registered as a Professional Engineer in California, Wyoming and Utah
- Completed RSI Instructor Training Course provided by American Public Works Association. Designated training specialist for the Weber County Storm Water Coalition.
- Professional Experience - Municipal engineering as a civil engineering designer, project engineer, project manager, and project director for city capital improvement programs both as an agency staff engineer, manager, and department director and as an engineering consultant to municipal, county and state agencies. Blane has worked as a project designer , project engineer, project manager and project director for over $700,000,000 in public infrastructure, including storm drains, streets, water and sewer systems, park site development, transit center development, major street beautification and revitalization, solid waste landfill operations, and major freeway construction projects.
- Storm Water Specific Experience - Extensive training in the NPDES program development, having written and/or assembled city stormwater codes, stormwater BMP's and storm water inspection programs, assembling inspection teams for various cities both as a department director and consultant.
- Current Employment - Senior Engineer for Weber County and Registered Storm Water Inspector, having participated in the Utah Chapter of the American Public Works Association (APWA) and the Utah Local Technical Assistance Program (LTAP) for Stormwater Inspectors.
- Current Professional Affiliations - Active member of the Utah chapters of APWA, and AWWA and a previous member of ASCE. Blane recently served on the Wyoming State Governor's Advisory Committee for Solid Waste Management and Recycling, and a Vice President in the Wyoming Solid Waste and Recycling Association.